HOLDS KEY TO SITUATION

If Cumming Declares for Saloon Extension bad for Wire Mills

HIGH PRICES FOR ITS LAND

Owens Sixty Acres Where the Ownership Counts in Hard Anti-Saloon Fight Which is Coming

What will be the result of the neutral attitude of the Cummins Land company which owns sixty acres of and fronting on State street in North Chicago, running from Tenth street south, in regard to the extension of saloons on State street, a move that many property owners there favor and which the wire mills is desperately fighting?

The Cumming's people seem to hold the key to the situation, and their neutral attitude, one which will be kept, it is stated by their agent, causes the proposed extension to hold fire.

Across from the wire mills is a stretch of land with no stores or improvements and with but few houses. About sixty acres of it is in the most desirable part owned by the Cumming's company.

The wire mills were planning extensive improvements to their plant.

Millions of trout, pike, pickerel and other fish will be propagated in the state hatchery. It will be the only one in the state, with the exception of one which is now located at Quincy.

Members of the bait casting society have struggled for years to bring about the result that Senator Hopkins has promised, and they are much elated.

At one time during the last session of congress it was thought that a measure which provided for a hatchery in this part of the state would be passed. It was lost, however, as representatives from almost every state in the union immediately wanted hatcheries for their states.

At the next congressional session the appropriation for the Illinois fisheries will probably be contained in the appropriation for Illinois rivers and harbors.

It is here that the situation comes to the present. The wire mills were alarmed, and when they heard of the proposed extension of the saloons they immediately cancelled the improvement orders and will now make no extensions.

Then they went to the agent of the Cumming's land company. He was asked not to favor the extension of the saloons and was made to understand that if he did, the entire mill would probably be taken away.

After some discussion, the agent for the Cumming's people agreed to take a neutral position and to do nothing either for or against the extension of the saloon district.

Then he was approached by agents for the breweries. Many propositions were made to him, but the main one was if the Cumming's people would lend their support to the saloon extension movement and help push it through, that the breweries would purchase the entire piece of land there at a high price. Exceptional prices were offered for single lots.

The offer was an exceptional good one. The Cumming's people have no special prejudice against saloons, neither are they working for them. They had agreed to remain neutral in the matter and they told the breweries they intended to remain by the decision.

WOMAN WRITES SHORTEST WILL ON RECORD

One of the most Unique Cook County as well as brief wills in the history of the Probate Court was filed with Ninan H. Welch, assistant to Judge Cutting of the Probate Court last week.

The will is that of Abbie Benson, who lived at Libertyville, and disposed of a deposit book of the Garden City Equitable Loan and Building Association, where the deceased owned ten shares. The "will" is written on a fly leaf of the book, and reads:

"I hereby will and bequeath to my sister, Electa Clarke, my ten shares of stock in the Garden City Equitable Loan and Trust Association, as herein shown."

Guy Guereux, clerk of the Probate Court, declared that the will was legal.

The clock of St. Paul's. The clock of St. Paul's clock are 57 feet in circumference and the hands respectively are five feet nine inches and nine feet eight inches long. The minute hands weigh 14 pounds and the hour hands 44 pounds. The clock cost $2,300 and was made in 1708.

THEY FILE BIG MORTGAGE

Million and Half Dollar Mortgage Filed by Chicago, Waukegan, North Shore R. R.

Late Tuesday afternoon John Douglas filed in the recorder's office a mortgage for the Chicago, Waukegan and North Shore Railroad company for a million and a half dollars.

The mortgage is made to the Central Trust company of Chicago, of which Chas. G. Dawes is president.

The mortgage covers the company's right of way between Waukegan and Kenosha, which is the only property the company owns up to this time, so far as is known.

The right of way is not worth such an amount of money but at the same time a representative of the company stated that the bonds of the company would not be placed on the market for sale as they were all taken up.

The mortgage is shown to be issued to secure twenty year bonds and the signature of George G. Wilcox, as president of the road, and Frank Grover, as secretary, and those of Charles G. Dawes, president and Albert G. Mang, of the Central Trust Co., are attached to it.

FISHERY PROMISED BY HOPKINS

Following the announcement that the Fox River Bait Casting society had received 600,000 fish, which were put in the Fox river at Yorkville and St. Charles, it is learned that Senator Hopkins has promised the members of the society that an appropriation will be made next year for a government fishery, which will be established in one of the large creeks which empty into the Fox river near Oswego.

Millions of trout, pike, pickerel and other fish will be propagated in the state hatchery. It will be the only one in the state, with the exception of one which is now located at Quincy.

Members of the bait casting society have struggled for years to bring about the result that Senator Hopkins has promised, and they are much elated.

At one time during the last session of congress it was thought that a measure which provided for a hatchery in this part of the state would be passed. It was lost, however, as representatives from almost every state in the union immediately wanted hatcheries for their states.

At the next congressional session the appropriation for the Illinois fisheries will probably be contained in the appropriation for Illinois rivers and harbors.

NORTH CHICAGO WILL NOT CHANGE NAME

North Chicago residents are bitterly opposed to changing the name of their city from North Chicago to Station A, Waukegan.

A meeting was called to discuss the matter on Friday evening last, at which about 150 of the residents were present and the vote was unanimous in turning down the proposed change.

They claim that the name as it now is, has great commercial value to the place and that it has influenced many factories to locate there and it is feared that should the name be changed these factories would in time move elsewhere. When this town was first named it was known as South Waukegan, but only for a short time when it was changed to its present name.

When the Chicago Hardware company located there they stipulated that the town should be known as North Chicago, and had it not been so called they would never have located there, and they claim that a change now would be a detriment to their business interests as their goods are labeled North Chicago and advertised as being manufactured there. It is quite evident that if the residents of the town have their say that North Chicago will remain North Chicago to end of its days.

For The Public Good.

An independent and ably edited newspaper which commands a great circulation is probably the most potent influence for good in the United States today. The power for the better things in public affairs and policies, for instance, which is wielded by such a newspaper as The Chicago Record-Herald can scarcely be exaggerated, and much of that strength comes in the case of this leading Chicago daily from the fact that it is absolutely independent, fearless and fair. It is not the mouthpiece of any interest except that of the public. The Record-Herald champions the cause of the good, the clean, the beneficial in every matter of city, state or national moment. It is the knowledge on the part of its readers that it cares not whom it hits or what enemies it makes, so long as it is battling for the welfare of the community, which gives to The Record-Herald much of the influence it enjoys. It gives in its news columns the most complete and impartial reports of political events, another evidence of its splendid news service.

THIEF GETS CLOTHES

While Forty Methodists of Cairo are Being Immersed, their Clothes Disappear

SHIVER IN WET GARMENTS

Left Their Clothes in a Barber Shop and Were Forced to Wait Till New Ones Could be Bought for Them

While forty members of the Methodist church at Cairo, Ill., were being baptized in the Ohio river, in the presence of hundreds of witnesses, who lined the river banks, a sneak thief broke into a nearby barber shop, where many of the candidates had deposited their street clothes, and made away with the entire wardrobe. The thief passed unnoticed until the services were ended, when a dozen or more of the immersed, including a number of women went to the shop for their clothing and were horrified to find that the place had been robbed. Dressed in their dripping baptismal garments, they searched around for the missing clothes, while sympathizing friends hunted in the vicinity for some trace of the thief.

In answer to a telephone summons the chief of police and a squad of officers made a hurry-up run to the scene, and after about half an hour delay messengers were sent to the uptown stores for new wearing apparel. It was found however that all the stores were closed, and it was necessary to summon the proprietors. There was no means of having a fire in the barber shop and nearly all the victims contracted severe colds while waiting for their clothes. The pastor of the church who performed the baptismal ceremony, exercised every effort for the comfort of his distracted members.

A CHOICE MIXTURE OF WEATHER

Rain, wind, hail and snow, is the record of Sunday's storm in Waukegan, a record that shows severe treatment for that city. The morning began mildly enough, but early in the afternoon began to gather and a driving rain set in, and later changed to a slow drizzling rain then to hail and even snow later at night.

Between one and two o'clock lightning struck the Westerfield house tearing a hole through the roof and cutting out a screen. Had it not been for the ground wire of the telephone, which took the current in the bolt, the house might have suffered from fire. A residence back of the Westerfield place was also struck. All about the county the floods are great every bit of lowland being under water.

Near Libertyville the DesPlains is a quarter of a mile wide and is roaring between banks that constantly spreading. Rondout is practically on an island.

WILL HOLD THEIR ANNUAL CONFERENCE

The annual June conference of the Congregational churches of Lake County will be held this year with the Congregational church at Fox Lake of which Rev. Geo. Mitchell has charge for the summer months.

The meeting will be held Tuesday June 11, and the program for the occasion is a good one. Mr. Lloyd E. Harter, president of the Men's League of Chicago and Mr. Arthur Scrogin, attorney for the anti-saloon league with the local pastors and laymen are to be the speakers and Dr. Ainslie, of the North Shore Congregational church will give the annual sermon. Mr. N. D. Pratt will have charge of the singing.

OLD SETTLERS GET READY

Biggest Picnic in History to be Held in Union Grove on June 20.

Arrangements for the Kenosha Old Settlers' picnic at Union Grove on June 20 are fast becoming completed and the patrons of this annual good time are hearing with the greatest pleasure the announcement that the dinner will be served by the people of Union Grove and vicinity. In years gone by whenever the dinner has been so arranged it has been one of the big features of the day and because of this the announcement is being well received. Congressman Cooper will be the principal speaker of the day and numerous other details are being arranged that indicate that the 1907 picnic will be the banner one of the Old Settlers' society.

Many from here always attend this picnic and this year will be no exception to the rule.

FOUND DEAD IN BED

Mrs. John Cunningham, East of Loon Lake, Dies Very Suddenly

SEVERE SHOCK TO FAMILY

Retires in Her Usual Good Health Tuesday Night and Found Dead by Son Wednesday Morning

Early Wednesday morning the community was surprised and shocked to learn of the sudden and unexpected death of Mrs. John Cunningham, a widely known and highly respected resident of this vicinity, who for years has made her home on a farm a couple of miles east of Loon Lake.

Her death was very sudden and unexpected and is a great blow to her family who were in no way prepared for the shock, and occurred some time Tuesday night the exact time will never be known. She had been enjoying her usual good health recently and had not complained of feeling ill in any way. She had gone about her duties during the day and had spent some time working about the yard and garden. Indeed so much like herself did she seem that not even the most careful observer could have noted anything amiss. On Tuesday evening she retired as usual and little did her family then think that it was the last time they would ever see her alive.

When morning came and she did not make her appearance at the usual rising hour her son, Ed, fearing that his mother was ill, went to her room to see what was the matter, and was horrified and almost stunned when he discovered that his mother had breathed her last some time during the night. Corner Taylor was immediately summoned but as we go to press we learn that the inquest has not as yet been held and the exact cause of her death is not known but it is generally supposed that it was due to some disease of the heart.

Elizabeth McCann was born in Kenosha, Kenosha County, Wis., in the year of 1847, and died at her home near Antioch, Tuesday night May 23, 1907, in the sixtieth year of her age. She was united in marriage to John Cunningham and to this union seven children were born, two of whom preceded the mother to the land of rest. She is survived by five children, four daughters, Mrs. Lewis Gullidge, of Waukegan, Mrs. George Martin, of Millburn, Mrs. Tessie Cunningham, and Miss Irene Cunningham, and one son, Ed, who lived at home. All of whom sincerely mourn the loss of a devoted mother. Besides her immediate family she leaves many other relatives and a large circle of friends who will sadly miss her in the time to come. The funeral is to be held on Friday, Rev. Father Joyce of this place officiating. The remains will be laid at rest in the Mill Creek cemetery. The news joins with their many friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved family.

ARRANGE SPEED PROGRAM

Liberal Purse to be Given at McHenry County Fair This Year.

The board of directors of the McHenry County Fair held a conference with representative speed men of the county last Saturday afternoon to discuss the arrangement of the speed program for the coming fair. At the opening of the meeting President Desmond stated that A. S. Wright had decided to accept the position as superintendent of speed, tendered him at the recent meeting of the executive committee. After an informal discussion participated in by W. E. Wire, O. W. Hill, D. W. Thomas, A. S. Wright, M. W. Goddard, C. A. Dunham, James Lawson and others, the following recommendations were presented to the board.

First that two purses of $400 each be offered for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Second, that a county stake race be made for Wednesday, contestants to pay $10 entry, the society to add $100. Third, gentlemen's driving race, (county) purse to be $50, divided $25, $15 and $10. Fourth, running race for Friday, purse to be $100. This would make an increase of about $500 in the appropriation for speed, over last year.

The above recommendations will be followed as closely as possible in preparing the program for the coming fair. A special effort will be made by Mr. Wright and his assistants to secure a good string of horses and no pains will be spared to make this year's event of unusual interest to horsemen generally and to all lovers of the sport.

The Best Bridle. Prevention is the best bridle.—Felt.

A CHAUTAUQUA AT BRISTOL

Splendid Program to be Rendered at the Assembly June 4 to 9

The Chautauqua Assembly to be held in Bristol, June 4 to 9, is one of a hundred similar gatherings to be conducted in the state of Wisconsin by the Grand Lodge of the International Order of Good Templars. The plan is in the hands of H. A. Larson, of Waupaca, grand chief templar, who is looking after the details. The talent has been engaged for the whole season, as has also five large tents and the superintendents in charge of them. Three hundred thousand copies of the programs are to be printed; 40,000 season tickets, each containing twelve admissions, so the tickets represent a total of 480,000 admissions; 20,000 large posters are also being printed.

The talent secured is of a high grade and consists of the following: Charles O. Merica, former superintendent of the state industrial school at Waukesha; Prof. O. W. Blain, of Michigan, a well known lecturer and stereopticon entertainer; Miss Lillian M. Phelps, of Ontario, a celebrated W. C. T. U. lecturer; J. E. Caveny, cartoonist, of Boston; The Philodine Male Quartette, assisted by Katherine Carroll Smith, reader.

It is hoped to reach nearly every county in the state in this strenuous summer campaign.

That the community may know that the chautauqua is an assured fact we announce to the public the names of a few of the prominent citizens who have become responsible for different phases of the preparation for the great event.

The W. C. T. U. have secured this most valuable educational treat to the town, and being anxious to assure the public of the extensive preparations necessary have solicited the service of the following to serve on their committees:

Committee on grounds—Mrs. J. H. Whitcher, Chas. Bonson, J. H. Gray.

Committee on music—Mrs. Florence Ellis, Mrs. Blanche Fox, Mrs. Grace Shepard.

Committee on entertainment of talent—Mrs. J. H. Gray, Mrs. E. Pike, Mrs. C. B. Gaines.

Committee on seating auditorium and hauling all material—C. H. Murdoch, Arch Murdoch, E. M. Bishop, H. B. Gains.

Committee on lights—Charles Bonson, John Shottliff, J. L. Sizor.

Committee on advertising—J. L. Sizor, C. H. Murdoch.

MORNING MAIL CHANGED TIME MONDAY LAST

Last week when Postmaster Williams announced that hereafter there would be no more mail on the milk train in the morning on account of the early morning train which has formerly left Chicago at 2:30 a. m. and taken the mail to Burlington, where it was picked up by the milk train and brought back to Antioch, having changed time so that it now leaves the city at 10:30 p. m. which is to early to carry the mail, there was considerable kicking among the citizens of Antioch and vicinity. At first it was reported the only mail we would receive here in the forenoon would be at 10:40, and as this train does not run on Sunday Antioch would consequently get no Sunday mail. This certainly did not meet with the approval of the people here who have been so long accustomed to their Sunday papers to give them up without protest. However matters have been satisfactorily straightened out and arrangements have been made with the Northwestern railroad whereby the morning mail is now taken from Chicago on that line and left at Waukegan, where it is picked up by the fast train and thrown off at this place. Under this arrangement the mail will arrive here only about forty minutes later than usual. By this change the rural carriers will be somewhat later in starting out. This new arrangement went into effect Monday morning and so far seems to be quite satisfactory.

LAKE FOREST OPEN AIR HORSE SHOW

The Lake Forest open air horse show will take place this year on the afternoon of Friday and Saturday, June 23 and 24, on the grounds of the Oawentia Club. The program will be on similar lines to those of former years. More entries than ever before are expected. The proceeds of the show are given to charity.

Wonderful Eczema Cure.

"Our little boy had eczema for five years," writes N. A. Adams, Hazlet, Pa. "Two of our home doctors said the case was hopeless, his lungs being affected. We then employed other doctors, but no benefit resulted. By chance we read about Electric Bitters; bought a bottle and soon noticed improvement. We continued this medicine until several bottles were used, when our boy was completely cured." Best of all blood medicines and body building health tonics. Guaranteed at J. H. Swan's drug store. 50c.

SHOOT DOWN SOLDIER

Negro Troopers at Fort Sheridan Kill Herman LeRoy, Convicted Deserter

VICTIM CORNERED IN BARN

First Locks Guard in Granary and Then Begins a Futile Fight—He was Serving a Two-year Sentence for Desertion

"Bring back Private Herman LeRoy, dead or alive."

These were the orders issued Monday at Fort Sheridan, when Provost Sergeant Murfree was informed that LeRoy, serving a two-year sentence for desertion, had locked his guard in a granary, broken his shackles and escaped amid a shower of bullets.

An hour later Private Mack Goodson and John J. Sanford, negro troopers of the Ninth Cavalry, appeared at the post, bearing the lifeless body of the soldier. They had found him unarmed, half a mile from the reservation, had cornered him in the loft of a barn and shot him down when he threatened to throw a stone at them.

The body of LeRoy was placed in the post morgue and both of his captors were locked in the guardhouse. Private Joe Rhalagan, from whom the deserter had escaped, was also locked up and Major Chatfield quickly began an investigation.

LeRoy, a white man, is reported to have deserted from an army post in New York, several years ago. He came to Chicago and in spite of the hazard, secured employment in Highwood, near Fort Sheridan, and a place frequented by soldiers who might recognize him. He drove a delivery wagon for E. A. Welch, a Highwood saloon-keeper, for nearly a year, and the fact that he had deserted from the U. S. army became known to several of his acquaintances and his employer.

LeRoy has a wife and child in Edge-water, and the separation from these is said to have created in him an intense desire to regain his liberty.

LeRoy found his opportunity to escape a few minutes before 5 o'clock, at which hour the prisoners are returned to the guard house and locked up for the night. He had been working at the granary emptying bags of oats.

Just as the prisoner completed his task he stepped quickly out, and before his guard had an opportunity to interfere, bolted the door from the outside. Rhalagan, the guard, made a lunge at the door, when he saw that his prisoner had eluded him, but it withstood the strain and he was held captive. Then he fired several shots to attract the attention of the other guards, who were engaged only a short distance away.

Meanwhile LeRoy seized a stone and battered the lock on one of his legs until it was broken and he was able to free his right foot. The lock on his left leg resisted his efforts, and, fearing to wait longer, he fastened the other iron to his left foot and ran.

While leaving the reservation one of the guards fired at him, but missed. Another took careful aim, resting his rifle on a pile of wood, but missed also. Before either could shoot again, the fugitive disappeared behind some buildings.

LeRoy ran in the direction of the Highwood power-house and during his flight, a care on the electric came along. The fugitive halted it and the motorman was slowing down when he saw the leg irons on the would-be passenger and surmising that he was an escaped prisoner, turned on the power and sped ahead.

The provost guard was turned out and LeRoy, seeking to hide himself in a barn, was discovered, and resisting arrest, was shot, the bullet piercing his heart.

At the coroner's jury held later the jury exonerated the colored troopers who did the shooting.

SIX HORSES KILLED BY LIGHTNING

During an electric storm that swept over McHenry county one day last week, a bolt of lightning struck the barn on the Wm. Rehner farm, 3 1/2 miles west of Richmond and totally destroyed that building together with the milk house, barn, house, tool shed and windmill. Six head of horses lost their lives in the flames and a large amount of farm machinery, about twenty tons of hay, a quantity of grain, several sets of harness, milk cans, etc., were also entirely destroyed.

Beneficent Labor. Labor rid us of three great evils—tiredness, vice and poverty.—French proverb.

FROM OUR EXCHANGE LIST

Interesting Items from this and Other Nearby Counties

It would undoubtedly be dangerous for anyone to misbehave at Fox Lake. For that town has better marshals than any other place of its size hereabouts.

It is said that a fight in a small way is on among some of the Sunday papers of Chicago over the price of the Sunday edition. The examiner and the American clamoring for seven cents and the Tribune sticking for five cents.

An Indiana editor printed the following. The fellow who is courting a certain married lady had better leave town as her husband is on to him. The paper had not been out very long until every man had left town except two cripples and one man who hadn't read the paper.

About noon Wednesday of last week milk and cream flowed freely on the St.

Paul tracks near Libertyville, when a milk car was derailed and thrown crosswise on the track. The car was loaded with bottled milk and was bound for Chicago. Traffic was delayed about eight hours by the accident.

A certain wise old country editor on being asked by a certain subscriber why he never called for money, replied: "We never ask a gentleman for money." "Indeed," replied the patron, "how do you manage to get along when they don't pay?" "Why," resumed the wise one, "after a certain time we conclude he is no gentleman and ask him."

While an engine was switching at the Wisconsin Central depot side track at Burlington on Monday evening of last week two box cars were derailed and ran along a short distance then fell over just at the trestle. One of the cars which was empty, fell into the mill pond, while the other which was loaded with Burlington blankets, fell on shore. A part of the bridge was also torn away.

Zion City was visited by a disastrous fire early Friday morning about three o'clock. The fire occurred in the residence of a Mr. Shultz, which was one of the finest residences in Zion. It is supposed that the fire started from an incubator. The house was a total loss but was partially covered by insurance. This is the second fire that has occurred in Lake County, this spring from the same cause. Raising chickens by the aid of machinery seems to be a trifle more expensive in some cases than by the old fashioned way.

A woman in a neighboring town suspected that her husband was in the habit of kissing the hired girl, and resolved to detect him in the act. The other night she saw him pass quietly into the kitchen. The hired girl was out and the kitchen was dark. The jealous wife took a few matches in her hand, hastily placed a shawl on her head, as the hired girl often did, entered the back door, and immediately she was seized, kissed and embraced in an ardent manner. With a heart almost bursting the wife prepared a terrible rebuke to the faithless spouse, and tearing herself from his fond embrace, struck a match and stood face to face with—the hired man.

For a cold or a cough take Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. It is better than any other cough remedy because its laxative principle assures a healthy, copious action of the bowels and at the same time it heals irritation of the throat, strengthens the bronchial tubes and allays inflammation of the mucous membrane. Contains honey and tar, pleasant to take. Children like it. Conforms to the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by J. H. Swan

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effects are charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure. Brush your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swells, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol relieves indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol for dyspepsia does not only relieve indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy helps all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

Mr. S. S. Ball, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says: "I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me, and we are now using it in milk for baby."

Kodol Digests What You Eat.
Bottles only. Relieves indigestion, sour stomach, belching of gas, etc.

ANTIOCH NEWS.

ANTIOCH, ILLINOIS.

A REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
A. R. JOHNSON, Editor and Proprietor
By Mail, One Dollar per Year, in Advance.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It looks as though the divorce fever were epidemic in the Gould family.

That minister who performed the Corey-Gillman marriage, evidently wishes now he had had his second thought first.

If the President wanted to be real nice, he would have his third term declaration photographed and present records to his admiring but apprehensive friends.

That Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the national house of representatives—"Uncle Joe" Cannon of Illinois—will be the republican candidate for president of the United States in 1908 is the hope and belief of Senator Albert J. Hopkins. Senator Hopkins is a warm and enthusiastic supporter of Mr. Cannon for the presidency. In an interview the senator said that Illinois would send to the republican national convention in 1908 a united delegation favoring the nomination of Mr. Cannon to the highest office in the gift of the American people. Senator Hopkins paid a high tribute to Speaker Cannon's great ability and distinguished services during his long service in congress, and pointed out that Mr. Cannon would bring to the administration of the presidency the ripe experience and splendid statesmanship gained through nearly thirty years in public life.

The report that Secretary Cortelyou is a secret enemy of Secretary Taft's presidential aspirations is wide of the mark. The secretary of the treasury is too shrewd a man for that while it is probable that he has ultimate hopes of the presidency, he does not even think of the nomination at the coming convention. He is a close friend of President Roosevelt and such a thing as undermining Judge Taft would be treachery to his chief which he would not commit for political if not for ethical reasons. Secretary Cortelyou is a young man and has lots of time ahead of him for presidential aspirations, and if he eventually achieves them, which is not at all unlikely, it will be a pretty inspiring example for American boys. The rise from a department stenographer to president is certainly about as great as that "from the log cabin to the white house."

It will be a satisfaction to everyone to have it from the lips of Secretary Wilson himself that the meat inspection business is on a sound basis and that the public is getting all it had any reason to hope from the government supervision of the packing houses. The secretary of agriculture has just been on a tour of the west and rounded up all the chief meat inspectors for a talk in Chicago. He reports that the inspection work is going forward satisfactorily, that there have been a number of modern and sanitary packing houses built since the law went into effect less than a year ago. More than that there is about $2,500,000 being invested in other new houses, cement built and a credit to the business. To be sure the improvement is no fault of the packers. They never would have come to it but for the prodding of the administration through the press. The public has had to pay for the improvements in the enhanced cost of meat, but at least we are now getting what we pay for and American meat products are ranked as first class all over the world.

CLEVER TRICK OF THIEVES.

Use Offensive Odor of Onions to Aid in Shoplifting.

"Incredible as it may seem," said Lecoq, the detective, "there are a number of shoplifters who steal by the agency of the onion. These abandoned men, before setting out upon their contemplated crimes, eat of raw onions abundantly. Then they stroll into the silversmith's or the haberdasher's or the jeweler's that they propose to rob. 'Show me those large solitaires surrounded with pigeon-blood rubies, please,' says the jeweler thief. The clerk brings forth the tray of gems and, bending over it, the thief sighs with admiration. His face close to the clerk's, he sighs again. And the clerk's nostrils quiver and he turns away his head. The inspection of diamonds continues for some minutes. Throughout it the thief keeps breathing hard, and hence it is no wonder at the day's end that a couple of costly rings are missing."

DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve does not merely heal on the surface; it penetrates the pores and promptly relieves pain, caused by boils, burns, scalds, cuts and skin diseases. It is especially good for piles. Beware of imitations. Sold by J. H. Swag.

Each to His Trade.

"I'm more useful than you are," boasted the collier. "Yes?" replied the bulldog. "You don't say?" "Yes. You should see me go for the sheep when they start to run away." "Well, just wait until some tramps come along here and when they start to run away watch me go for the calves."

Piles get quick and certain relief from Dr. Shoop's Magic Ointment. Please note it is made alone for piles, and its action is positive and certain. Itching, painful, protruding or blind piles disappear like magic by its use. Large nickel-capped glass jars 5c cents. Sold by all dealers.

Organize Against Women.

Business of the gondoliers of Venice's being invaded by women and the men are organizing unions to drive them out.

Let me send you free, for catarrh, just to prove merit, a trial size box of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. It is a snow white, creamy, healing antiseptic balm. Containing such healing ingredients as Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, etc., it gives instant and lasting relief to catarrh of the nose and throat. Make the free test and see for yourself what this preparation can and will accomplish. Address Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Large jars 50 cents. Sold by all dealers.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Home of Swamp-Root, Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Proper Flower Cultivation.
If you wish to combine plants be very sure that there is perfect harmony of habits, as well as color, and aim at securing such a contrast as will bring out and heighten the peculiarities of each.

Let me mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative and my book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart, or The Kidneys. Address me, Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Troubles of the stomach, heart or kidneys are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak stomach nerves—the inside nerves—means stomach weakness, always. And the heart, and kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write for my free book now. Dr. Shoop's Restorative sold by all dealers.

That hacking cough continues the celebrated Italian authority, says food should be chewed until it is practically in liquid form before it is swallowed. Dr. Liebig, the great German chemist, says that beer is "liquid bread"—a genuine food in liquid form.

The Pabst Eight-Day Malting Process does the extraordinary work of changing the nutriment in the barley-grain into palatable and easily digestible liquid food.

Pabst Blue Ribbon

The Beer of Quality

made from Pabst Perfect Eight-Day Malt, is a pure, wholesome food, rich in nutritious, strengthening properties that build muscle and make good blood.

The flavor is delicious—you have never tasted a richer, more mellow beer. It strengthens you and at the same time lessens the work of digestion.

The Antioch school closed one of its most successful years on Monday of this week. Mrs. Lena Gaggin and Miss Lillie Watson gave the scholars in their room a luncheon of ice cream and cake on Friday afternoon. To say that the little folks enjoyed the afternoon but mildly expresses it.

Although we have had an abundance of rain in this section during the past week, we did not get the full extent of the storm.
In some parts of the county hail has caused much damage. At Spauldings corners a severe hail storm raged, and considerable damage was done to gardens and fruit.

Senator Tiffany returned from his fishing trip on Saturday and as proof of his skill as a fisherman he brought back a large string of speckled trout, some of them weighing two pounds apiece, which is rather large for that variety of fish.
Since his return he has been tantalizing his friends by exhibiting his catch and telling how he caught them.

Wm. Blair, who has been spending the past two years at St. Louis returned with his wife to this place the latter part of last week. His sister Miss Mary Blair, who has been visiting him during the past winter returned home with them. They expect to remain here during the summer and will work for Charley Smith at his hotel at Channel lake.

The weather of the State of Illinois, reports for the month of April is: average temperature for the month was 44.2, being the lowest state average since 1874; records of frosts shows 19 days in the month when the temperature was 32 or below; the highest was 83 at several points, the lowest was 11 at Zion; the highest average was 50.8 at Cairo, the lowest at Antioch, 39.

See Alden, Biding & Co., for any thing in music. Pianos, phonographs and records. Two stores, 473 Market st.
Kenosha, and 209 N. Genesee st., Waukegan. For piano tuning send to us.

Three of the teachers in our school, Mrs.
Gaggin, Miss Hogan and Miss Watson have accepted their same positions for the coming year. Prof. Marlow resigned and Mr. L. W. Felker who has successfully taught in the schools of Oklahoma for the past twelve years has been engaged to take his place.

The next regular meeting of the Ladie's Aid of the M. E. church will be held on Friday afternoon, May 31, instead of on Wednesday, June 5, the regular meeting day. At this meeting Mr. T. C. Erringer of Lake Bluff will be present to demonstrate the fireless cooker. The supper will consist of meat, vegetables etc., cooked in the fireless cooker and served hot between the hours of five and seven o'clock, for the usual price of 10 cents. Remember the change in date.

We are told that the Harry Emmons property on Main street, south of Williams Bros' store, has been sold. Mr. H. A.
Radtko having bought the building which he at the present time occupies as a barber shop, and L. B. Grice purchasing the house and land. We understand that Mr. Grice will make many changes around the property, among them being the tearing down of the wing of the residence and in the space between the house and the Emmons building on the south, at present occupied by Gray & Yopp, he will erect a brick building which will be occupied by Chas.
Powles for a meat market. This property is quite valuable and desirable for a business location, more so than as a residence.
This house is among the oldest now left in Antioch and the changing of the place to a business block will make quite a difference in the appearance of our main street.

The Board of Trustees of the Village of Antioch, in the county of Lake, and State of Illinois, reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

THE DELUGE

CHAPTER XXVIII.—Continued.
I braced myself for the worst. "She is about to tell me that she is leaving," thought I. But I managed to say: "I'm glad to hear of your luck," though I fear my tone was not especially joyous.

"So," she went on, "I am in a position to pay back to you, I think, what my father and Sam took from you. It won't be enough, I'm afraid, to pay what you lost indirectly. But I have told the lawyers to make it all over to you."

I could have laughed aloud. It was too ridiculous, this situation into which I had got myself. I did not know what to say. I could hardly keep out of my face how foolish this collapse of my crafty conspiracy made me feel. And then the full meaning of what she was doing came over me—the revelation of her character. I trusted myself to steal a glance at her; and for the first time I didn't see the thrilling azure sheen over her smooth, white skin, though all her beauty was before me, as dazzling as when it compelled me to resolve to win her. No; I saw her, herself—the woman within. I had known from the outset that there was an altar of love within my temple of passion. I think that was my first real visit to it.

"Anita!" I said, unsteadily. "Anita!" The color flamed in her cheeks; we were silent for a long time.

"You—your people owe me nothing," I at length found voice to say. "Even if they did, I couldn't and wouldn't take your money. But, believe me, they owe me nothing."

"You cannot mislead me," she answered. "When they asked me to become engaged to you, they told me about it."

I had forgotten. The whole repulsive, rotten business came back to me. And, changed man that I had become in the last six months, I saw myself as I had been. I felt that she was looking at me, was reading the degrading confession in my telltale features.

"I will tell you the whole truth," said I. "I did use your father's and your brother's debts to me as a means of getting to you. But, before God, Anita, I swear I was honest with you when I said to you I never hoped or wished to win you in that way!"

"I believe you," she replied, and her tone and expression made my heart leap with indescribable joy.

Love is sometimes most unwise in his use of the reins he puts on passion. Instead of acting as impulse commanded, I said, clumsily: "And I am very different to-day from what I was last spring." It never occurred to me how she might interpret those words.

"I know," she replied. She waited several seconds before adding: "I, too, have changed. I see that I was far more guilty than you. There is no excuse for me. I was badly brought up, as you used to say, but—"

"No—no," I began to protest. She cut me short with a sad: "You need not be polite and spare my feelings. Let's not talk of it. Let us go back to the object I had in coming for you to-day."

"You owe me nothing," I repeated. "Your brother and your father settled long ago. I lost nothing through them. And I've learned that if I had never known you, Roebuck and Langdon would still have attacked me."

"What my uncle gave me has been transferred to you," said she, woman fashion, not hearing what she did not care to heed. "I can't make you accept it; but there it is, and there it stays."

"I cannot take it," said I. "If you insist on leaving it in my name, I shall simply return it to your uncle."

"I wrote him what I had done," she rejoined. "His answer came yesterday. He approves it."

"Approves it!" I exclaimed. "You do not know how eccentric he is," she explained, naturally misunderstanding my astonishment. She took a letter from her bosom and handed it to me. I read:

"Dear Madam: It was yours to do with as you pleased. If you ever find yourself in the mood to visit, Gull House is open to you, provided you bring no maid. I will not have female servants about. Yours truly, ply friends." And my manner fitted my words.
"HOWARD FORRESTER."

She looked strangely at me. "You would be content with that?" she asked.

I answered what I thought would please her. "Let us make the best of our bad bargain," said I. "You can trust me now, don't you think you can?"

She nodded without speaking; we were at the door, and the servants were hastening out to receive us. Always the servants between us. Servants indoors, servants outdoors; morning, noon and night, from waking to sleeping, these servants to whom we are slaves. As those interrupting servants sent us each a separate way, her to her maid, me to my valet, I was depressed with the chill that the opportunity that has not been seen leaves behind it as it departs.

"Well," said I to myself by way of consolation, as I was dressing for dinner, "she is certainly softening toward you, and when she sees the new house you will be still better friends."

"Anita," said I, "do you care for me?"

She murmured inaudibly. Evasion!

But, when the great day came, I was not so sure. Alva went for a "private view" with young Thornley; out of her enthusiasm she telephoned me from the very midst of the surroundings she found so wonderful and so beautiful—thus she assured me, and her voice made it impossible to doubt. And, the evening before the great day, I going for a final look round, could find no flaw serious enough to justify the sinking feeling that came over me every time I thought of what Anita would think when she saw my efforts to realize her dream. I set out for "home" half a dozen times at least, that afternoon, before I pulled myself together, called myself an ass, and, with a pause at Delmonico's for a drink, which I ordered and then rejected, finally pushed myself in at the door. What a state my nerves were in!

Alva had departed; Anita was waiting for me in her sitting-room. When she heard me in the hall, just outside, she stood in the doorway. "Come in," she said to me, who did not dare so much as glance at her.

I entered. I must have looked as I felt—like a boy, summoned before the teacher to be whipped in presence of the entire school. Then I was conscious that she had my hand—how she had got it, I don't know—and that she was murmuring, with tears of happiness in her voice: "Oh, I can't say it!"

"Glad you like your own taste," said I awkwardly. "You know, Alva told me."

"But it's one thing to dream, and a very different thing to do," she answered. Then, with smiling reproach: "And I've been thinking all summer

"Oh—that passed long ago," said I. "But you never told me," she reminded me. "And I'm glad you didn't," she added. "Not knowing saved me from doing something very foolish." She reddened a little, smiled a great deal, dazlingly, was altogether different from the ice-locked Anita of a short time before, different as June from January. And her hand—so intensely alive—seemed extremely comfortable in mine.

Even as my blood responded to that touch, I had a twinge of cynical bitterness. Yes, apparently I was at last getting what I had so long, so vainly, and, latterly, so hopelessly craved. But—why was she giving it? Why had she withheld herself until this moment of material happiness? "I have to pay the rich man's price," thought I, with a sigh.

It was in reaching out for some sweetness to take away this bitter taste in my honey that I said to her, "When you gave me that money from your uncle, you did it to help me out?"

She colored deeply. "How silly you must have thought me!" she answered.

I took her other hand. As I was drawing her toward me, the sudden pallor of her face and chill of her hands halted me once more, brought sickeningly before me the early days of my courtship when she had infuriated my pride by trying to be "submissive." I looked round the room—that room into which I had put so much thought—and money. Money! "The rich man's price!" those delicately brocaded walls shimmered mockingly at me.

"Anita," said I, "do you care for me?"

She murmured inaudibly. Evasion!

Alva went for a "private view" with young Thornley; out of her enthusiasm she telephoned me from the very midst of the surroundings she found so wonderful and so beautiful—thus she assured me, and her voice made it impossible to doubt. And, the evening before the great day, I going for a final look round, could find no flaw serious enough to justify the sinking feeling that came over me every time I thought of what Anita would think when she saw my efforts to realize her dream. I set out for "home" half a dozen times at least, that afternoon, before I pulled myself together, called myself an ass, and, with a pause at Delmonico's for a drink, which I ordered and then rejected, finally pushed myself in at the door. What a state my nerves were in!

Alva had departed; Anita was waiting for me in her sitting-room. When she heard me in the hall, just outside, she stood in the doorway. "Come in," she said to me, who did not dare so much as glance at her.

I entered. I must have looked as I felt—like a boy, summoned before the teacher to be whipped in presence of the entire school. Then I was conscious that she had my hand—how she had got it, I don't know—and that she was murmuring, with tears of happiness in her voice: "Oh, I can't say it!"

"Glad you like your own taste," said I awkwardly. "You know, Alva told me."

"But it's one thing to dream, and a very different thing to do," she answered. Then, with smiling reproach: "And I've been thinking all summer

inside, will understand how I can concede that a selfish reason moved me to draw my sword, and still claim a higher motive. In such straits as were mine, some men of my all-or-none temperament debauch themselves; others threaten about blindly, reckless whether they strike innocent or guilty; I did neither.

Probably many will recall that long before the "securities" of the reorganized coal combine were issued, I had in my daily letter to investors been preparing the public to give them a fitting reception. A few days after my whole being burst into flames of resentment against Anita, out came the new array of new stocks and bonds. Roebuck and Langdon arranged with the underwriters for a "fake" four times over-subscription, indorsed by the two greatest banking houses in the Street. Despite this oft-repeated and always-good trick, the public refused to buy. I felt I had not been overestimating my power. But I made no move until the "securities" began to go up, and the financial reporters—under the influence where not actually in the pay of the Roebuck-Langdon clique—shouted that, "in spite of the malicious attacks from the gambling element, the new securities are being absorbed by the public at prices approximating their value." Then—But I shall quote my investors' letter the following morning:

"At half-past nine yesterday—ninety-eight, to be exact—President Melville, of the National Industrial Bank, loaned six hundred thousand dollars. He loaned it to Bill Van Nest, an ex-gambler and proprietor of pool rooms, now silent partner in Hoe & Wittekind, brokers, on the New York Stock Exchange, and also in Filbert & Jonas, curb brokers. He loaned it to Van Nest without security."

"Van Nest used the money yesterday to push up the price of the new coal securities by 'wash sales'—which means, by making false purchases and sales of the stock in order to give the public the impression of eager buying. Van Nest sold to himself and bought from himself 347,060 of the 352,681 shares traded in."

"Melville, in addition to being president of one of the largest banks in the world, is a director in no less than seventy-three great industrial enterprises, including railways, telegraph companies, savings banks and life insurance companies. Bill Van Nest has done time in the Nevada State Penitentiary for horse-stealing."

That was all. And it was enough—quite enough. I was a national figure, as much so as if I had tried to assassinate the president. Indeed, I had exploded a bomb under a greater than the president—under the chiefs of the real government of the United States, the government that levied daily upon every citizen, and that had state and national and the principal municipal governments in its strong box.

I confess I was as much astounded at the effect of my bomb as old Melville must have been. I felt that I had been obscure, as I looked at the newspapers, with Matthew Blacklock appropriating almost the entire front page of each. I was the isolated, the conspicuous figure, standing alone upon the steps of the temple of Mammon, where mankind daily and devoutly comes to offer worship.

Not that the newspapers praised me. I recall none that spoke well of me. The nearest approach to praise was the "Blacklock squeals on the Wall Street gang" in one of the sensational penny sheets that strengthen the plutocracy by lying about it. Some of the papers insinuated that I had gone mad; others that I had been bought up by a rival gang to the Roebuck-Langdon clique; still others thought I was simply hunting notoriety. All were inclined to accept as a sufficient denial of my charges Melville's dignified refusal "to notice any attack from a quarter so discredited."

As my electric whirled into Wall Street, I saw the crowd in front of the Textile building, a dozen policemen keeping it in order. I descended amid cheers, and entered my offices through a mob struggling to shake hands with me—and, in my ignorance of mob mind, I was delighted and inspired! Just why a man who knows men, knows how wishy-wishy they are as individuals, should be influenced by a demonstration from a mass of them, is hard to understand. But the fact is indisputable. They fooled me; they could fool me again, in spite of all I have been through. There probably wasn't one in that mob for whose opinion I would have had the slightest respect had he come to me alone; yet as I listened to those shallow cheers and those worthless assurances of "the people are behind you, Blacklock," I felt that I was a man with a mission!

Our main office was full, literally full, of newspaper men—reporters from morning papers, from afternoon papers, from out-of-town and foreign papers. I pushed through them, saying as I went: "My letter speaks for me, gentlemen, and will continue to speak for me. I have nothing to say except through it."

"But the public—" urged one.

"It doesn't interest me," said I, on my guard against the temptation to cant. "I am a banker and investment broker. I am interested only in my customers."

And I shut myself in, giving strict orders to Joe that there was to be no talking about me or my campaign. "I don't purpose to let the newspapers make us cheap and notorious," said I. "We must profit by the warning in the fate of all the other fellows who have sprung into notice by attaching these bandits."

MRS. MCKINLEY DEAD

END COMES PEACEFULLY TO WIDOW OF PRESIDENT.

FRIENDS ARE AT BEDSIDE

Secretary Cortelyou and Sister of the Deceased Present When Death Came—Will Lie Beside Her Husband.

Canton, O., Nov. 14.—Mrs. McKinley died at 1:05 p. m. Sunday.

There was no struggle—no pain. Mrs. McKinley never knew of the efforts made for days to prolong her life, nor of the solicited hope against hope of her sister and other relatives and friends for her recovery.

At the McKinley home when death came there were present Secretary Cortelyou, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Barber, Mrs. Sarah Duncan, Mrs. Luther Day, Mrs. McKinley.

Justice and Mrs. William R. Day, Dr. Portman and Rixey and the nurses.

The body of Mrs. McKinley will be placed in the vault in West Lawn cemetery which holds the remains of her husband, until the completion of the national mausoleum on Monument hill, when both caskets will be transferred to receptacles in that tomb.

From numerous friends of deceased Mrs. Barber received telegrams of condolence on the death of her sister. Among them were telegrams from President Roosevelt and Vice President Fairbanks.

Mrs. McKinley's life of almost 60 years had been made familiar to the nation by the fact that more than half of it was a period of invalidism. Through all this, however, she showed a firm and unwavering belief in the career of her husband and by her cheering words, in spite of personal afflictions, encouraged him when there was darkness at hand.

She believed that his star of destiny would never set until he had become president of this land, and for more than a quarter of a century cherished that belief until her hopes were realized.

After President McKinley's death, she expressed a desire to join him and prayed day by day that she might die. Later, however, she frequently told friends she desired to live until the completion of the McKinley mausoleum, which is the gift of the nation, and which is to be dedicated on Monument hill September 30 next.

The McKinley estate which was left by the president was appraised at $215,000 when the inventory was made. It has increased in value since that time. By the terms of the will of Mr. McKinley the estate, at the death of Mrs. McKinley, was to be divided equally among his brother, Abner McKinley, now deceased, and sisters, Mrs. Duncan and Miss Helen McKinley, of Cleveland.

Mrs. Harmanus Baer (Mabel McKinley) is the daughter and heir of Abner McKinley.

More San Francisco Indictments.

San Francisco.—Six more millionaires and multimillionaires, some of them well known throughout the country, fell under the accusation of the Oliver grand jury Saturday, when that body, just before an adjournment till June 10, returned 14 indictments jointly against G. H. Umben, J. E. Green and W. I. Brobeck, charging them with attempted bribery of public officials, and 14 indictments jointly against Frank G. Drum, Eugene De Sabla and John Martin, charging them with bribery of public officials. With the former group Abraham Ruef, the fallen political boss of San Francisco, was jointly indicted; with the latter group Ruef and Mayor Schmitz.

In all 28 indictments were found Saturday containing 136 counts and calling for bail bonds in the total sum of $1,250,000.

Survey Inspection Ordered.

Washington.—The commissioner of the general land office has ordered an examiner of surveys to go upon the Yakima reservation and proceed with the inspection of such surveys as are ready for examination. The surveys have been reported by the surveyor general of Washington, as being ready for inspection in the field, except three or four townships lying along the western boundary line.

Workers Demand Increased Pay.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Demands for a slight wage increase and an eight-hour day are made in a statement issued by the blast furnace workers throughout the country. A strike of 25,000 men is threatened on July 1 unless the matter is amicably adjusted.

Theodore Tilton Dies in Paris.

Paris.—Theodore Tilton, editor and author, died Saturday after a lingering illness caused by double pneumonia, complicated with heart trouble.

RULES AGAINST OIL TRST

MISSOURI JUDGE RECOMMENDS COMBINE BE OUSTED.

Three Big Companies Guilty of Conspiracy—Complete Victory for Attorney General Hadley.

Jefferson City, Mo.—Judge Robert A. Anthony, appointed by the supreme court of Missouri to take testimony in the suit begun by Attorney General Hadley against the Standard Oil company, the Waters-Pierce Oil company and the Republic Oil company, charging a conspiracy, Friday reported that the three companies entered an agreement to control prices. He recommends that their charters be revoked and that they be barred from the state, and holds that the supreme court has the authority to make the ruling of ouster.

The findings sustain all the contentions of Attorney General Hadley in the petition filed with the court. The report will be reviewed by the supreme court. It may affirm the findings or remand the case with directions for further proceedings.

Attorney General Hadley filed the suit in the supreme court two years ago, charging that the Standard Oil company, the Waters-Pierce Oil company and the Republic Oil company were in a trust and were parties to a conspiracy to control the price of oil and petroleum products in Missouri, and to limit and prevent competition in the oil business.

Judge Anthony of Fredericktown, Mo., was appointed by the supreme court to take testimony and report his finding to the court. More than a year has been occupied in the taking of the testimony, witnesses having been examined in New York, St. Louis and other cities.

In his report to the court Judge Anthony reviews in detail the testimony showing the organization and conduct of the companies. He reports to the court that the evidence shows that in 1901 the Standard, Waters-Pierce and Republic Oil companies entered into an agreement, which continued to exist up to the time of the filing of the suit, for the purpose of fixing and controlling the prices to be paid by retail dealers and others in Missouri for the products of petroleum, and to limit and prevent competition in the business of buying and selling oil.

If the report should be affirmed and the findings of the commissioner adopted by the court, the court will then have power to take from the Waters-Pierce Oil company, which is a Missouri corporation, its franchise rights as a corporation. With regard to the Standard and Republic companies, both of which are foreign corporations, the court would have power to cancel their right to do business in Missouri. The court may impose fines on the defendants.

FIENDS WRECK A TRAIN.

Pacific Coast Flyer Hurled from Trestle Near Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal.—A fiendish train wrecking plot was perpetrated near here Wednesday that resulted in the death of one man and the injury of 22 persons, four of whom are dying.

Train No. 20, one of the Southern Pacific's coast line flyers, due here at nine o'clock Tuesday night, was hurled from the tracks on a trestle at West Glendale, ten miles north of here, at 12:30 a. m. Wednesday by the deliberate work of murderous train wreckers. Seven cars plunged off the trestle, while the train was making 40 miles an hour, falling 16 feet to the bottom of a gulch.

At the Southern Pacific general offices in this city notices were posted offering $10,000 for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the wreck. The officials announced that they had no clew whatever.

In accomplishing the wreck of the train, which was the "Coast Line Limited," a devilish ingenuity was exercised. At a point on a trestle over the Arroyo Seco the fishplates and bolts of two connecting rails on the south-bound track had been removed, and in the apertures whence the bolts were taken strands of heavy wire were fastened at the end of each rail.

From the appearance of the track after the wreck it was evident that some person hidden on a hillside close to the trestle had pulled the wire as the train approached and spread the rails outward toward the edge of the trestle.

Wheat Passes $1.05.

Chicago.—Amid the wildest scene yet presented on the Chicago Board of Trade at its opening Wednesday December wheat took the biggest jump in the present campaign. It soared 5 1/4 cents over the dollar mark at the very opening of the pit. The panic in the pit was almost terrifying to witnesses. The buying orders from all over the country were pouring in for the thousands and the prices of wheat for July and September, as well as for December, kept above the one dollar mark. No May wheat was sold.

Devastation at Emory, Texas.

Emory, Tex.—Late Saturday afternoon a tornado bore down on Emory and for a few moments it seemed as if the whole town were doomed. The dead:

Walter Martin, aged 45.

Mrs. Birkhalter, a blind woman, aged 40.

Harvey, aged 40.

Three negroes.

Seriously injured: Miss Simmons, aged 20.

Miss Cora York.

Miss Belle York.
